FOREWORD.

HAVING been intrusted by his Executors with the disposal by public auction of the collection of Coins, Medals and Decorations of the late Mr. George Hamilton-Smith, it will be interesting to give a short résumé of the scope and extent of the collection.

Mr. Hamilton-Smith, Fellow of the Royal and British Numismatic Societies, was born at Bristol and resided at Leigh Woods, a suburb of Bristol. His collection of Coins contains :—

(1) A fine selection of coins struck in that City from Saxon times to the 17th Century.

(2) Rare and interesting pieces of the Stuart period, including the celebrated Oxford Crown by Rawlins and the Reddite Crown by Simon.

(3) Choice examples of pattern coins of the 18th and 19th Centuries.

(4) American coins.

It was, however, to collecting Military and Naval medals that Mr. G. Hamilton-Smith directed his principal attention, and being a liberal buyer, he succeeded in getting together what is undoubtedly the finest and most complete collection of these symbols of the Military and Naval events of Great Britain. The services of all Regiments are fully represented, and wherever military and naval achievements have adorned the history of the United Services, a record of them will be found among the numerous decorations awarded for such actions.

The gold-mounted sword presented by the Colony of Trinidad to Sir Thomas Picton, his gold cross and clasps for eight victories in the Peninsular War and various Orders of Knighthood, form perhaps, the principal item in the Collection—Picton being regarded as one of Britain's greatest soldiers.

The gold cross and clasps for nine battles of Sir William Howe de Lancey is another remarkable decoration ; the special gold medal and neck chain awarded to Captain Wooldridge, R.N., for naval services in 1809, Naval gold medals for Trafalgar and Curacoa, several large and small gold medals for the Peninsular Campaign, nearly five hundred Military General Service medals for Wellington's victories in the Peninsula, and the very rare medals for the victories of Lord Nelson and his Sea Captains, will give some idea of the extent and historical value of the Collection, the charm of which is the fine condition of the various specimens and the absolute certainty that all have been selected by a connoisseur with expert knowledge.

The disposal of the collection will necessitate four separate Sales, the coins being sold in May and the medals in three portions, in March, June and October of this year.

PRESENTATION SWORD

with damascened blade, gold hilt and gold-mounted scabbard, presented by the Colony of Trinidad. Inscription on blade, "The Inhabitants of Trinidad to Governor Picton for a Colony preserved."

* Sir Thomas Picton was born at Poyston, Pembrokeshire, in August, 1758, and obtained an Ensign's commission in the 12th Foot in 1771. Was appointed Captain in the 17th Foot in 1794, Lieut.-Colonel in the 56th Foot in 1796, and Colonel of the 77th Foot in 1811. Under Sir Ralph Abercromby he took part in the Capture of St. Lucia and St. Vincent. After the reduction of Trinidad he was made Governor of the island, and in October, 1801, he was gazetted Brigadier-General. He took part in the Capture of Flushing, of which in 1809 he was made Governor. At the special solicitation of Wellington he was named to the command of a division of the Army in Spain, and during the Peninsular Campaign he so distinguished himself that he received the thanks of the House of Commons on seven occasions.
The Capture of Badajoz was effected chiefly through his daring self-reliance and penetration in converting what was intended to be only a feint attack into a real one. As the leader of the fighting third division, victory and glory went hand in hand with this heroic leader, whose memory is so dear to every Briton. Received a probably mortal wound at Quatre Bras, but concealed the fact from everyone, excepting an old servant, in order that he might be present at Waterloo, which he foresaw was to be a tremendous struggle. Fell whilst gloriously leading a charge of Infantry to repel "one of the most serious attacks made by the enemy on our position." It is said that on the morning of the 18th June, one of the first questions asked by Napoleon of his staff was "Ou est la division de Picton?" A few hours later the broken ranks and decimated companies of many French regiments answered the question. General Picton's body is interred in St. Paul's Cathedral, where a public monument is erected to his memory.
